STUDENT EQUITY PLAN

Executive Summary

Introduction

Merced College is committed to access and success for all current and prospective students—prioritized in both our mission statement and strategic plan. The Merced College Student Equity Plan is a framework of principles, targeted goals and efforts, activities, and also embodies a commitment to maintaining equitable programs and services. Ensuring access and success for all students is the crux of this plan and is integrated in the College’s mission, policy, and strategic objectives:

Merced College Mission

Merced College serves as a gateway to the future, providing accessible, affordable, and relevant education and workforce training for students in our richly diverse region. The college offers programs of study that lead to transfer, associate degrees, and certificates. Merced College provides basic skills and noncredit courses, as well as community education for personal and professional enrichment.

Merced College Strategic Goal (related to Student Equity)

Goal 1: Assure Student Access and Success

Objective 1.2: Develop and improve student success strategies which are data-driven and research-based.

Objective 1.3: Increase equitable access for a diverse population of learners with varied interests and goals.

Objective 1.4: Increase student success by building partnerships with organizations that educate and support students.

Merced College Core Values (related to Student Equity)

Student Success

Merced College Board Policy (related to Student Equity)

The Board is committed to assuring student equity in educational programs and college services. The Superintendent/President shall establish and implement a student equity plan that meets the Title 5 standards for such a plan. (BP 5300)

Merced College Equity Plan Statement of Purpose

Merced College will ensure equitable access and success for all students with efforts focusing on reducing disproportionate impacts for student population groups.

2014-2015 Summary and Update

The Merced College Student Equity Plan created interest, sparked discussion, generated research, and outlined a strategic direction to eliminate barriers to student learning and success at Merced College. Through focused leverage of resources, Merced College addressed obstacles for disproportionately impacted students. The Student Equity Committee, through data compiled by the Office of Grants and Institutional Research and an adherence to best practices, created the Student Equity Plan, identifying strategic goals and objectives designed to improve access, completion, and success for target groups that are disproportionately impacted. The Office of Grants and Institutional Research, used both the Proportionality Index and 80% rule to determine target groups based on five success indicators: Access, Course Completion, ESL & Basic Skills, Degree & Certificate, and Transfer.

In order to make informed decisions, create benchmarks, and evaluate activities, beginning in the 2014-2015 SEP Budget, student equity funds were allotted for a part-time senior researcher. This position is devoted to equity issues and is charged with providing both qualitative and quantitative research to help the Student Equity Committee make data-driven-decisions in an effort to address inequity on campus.

For the 2015-2016 academic year, equity is an institutional objective. Merced College will engage in a district-wide collaborative effort to align equity with institutional goals and objectives. To help focus Merced College on student equity, Dr. Jeff Duncan-Andrade, acclaimed equity speaker, reframed equity at Convocation, the beginning of the year kick-off event including all faculty and staff. This presentation highlighted the importance of using resources to cultivate student agency—the will to succeed and the belief that success is possible.

Merced College and the Student Equity Committee understand that campus-wide collaboration is essential to improve student equity. Through collaboration with the Office of Relations with Schools, Merced College has committed to improving relationships with its high school partners. Outreach to local feeder schools will improve access for those in the Merced College service area interested in attending the college. Informed decisions are based on data; therefore, Merced College contracted with Brannen Consulting to produce a data “dashboard.” The Student Success and Support Program Dashboard provides real-time data regarding SSSP components and placement test scores with the ability to disaggregate data per targeted population group in the equity plan. This information will strengthen relationships with local high school partners and facilitate important dialogue regarding access and success barriers.

Through research, thoughtful dialogue, and continued feedback the Student Equity Committee will continue to refine and improve the Student Equity Plan to address student needs at Merced College.

2014-2015 Student Success Indicators chart

The chart below, “Student Success Indicators 2014-2015,” displays the target groups that were found to be disproportionately impacted (percentage point gap greater than -3.0) for one or more of the five statewide student success indicators (access, course completion, ESL and basic skills completion, degree and certificate completion, and transfer). Interpretation of these data are examined by success indicator and target group. In the first column (access) the reader can determine that six target groups (Hispanic or Latino, White, males, individuals with disabilities, low-income students, and veterans) have been disproportionately impacted with percentage point gaps larger than -3.0. However, the reader can also analyze the results based on the target groups. In the first row the reader can determine that Hispanic or Latino students are disproportionately impacted under the access and transfer success indicators. This can be done for each target group and success indicator to aid in decision-making and goal setting.

Percentage point gap measurements are calculated by subtracting the all student average success rate (%) from the success rate (%) of a disaggregated subgroup in the same outcome. The resulting ‘percentage point gap’ will have a -/+ designation that signals whether or not the disaggregated subgroup is experiencing a rate that is lower (-) or higher (+) than the all student average.

Planning Committee and Collaboration

The Merced College Student Equity Committee is a representative body of the college community. The committee is inclusive in nature and welcomes all who are interested in participating, and also ensures that all constituent groups are included on the committee. The committee boasts multiple faculty, staff, students, and administrators. Moreover, the committee composition is comprised of stakeholders from related categorical programs as well as institutional planning processes. The composition of the Merced College Student Equity Committee reflects the values, goals, and direction of Merced College in regard to achieving student equity. Below is a list of committee members and their position titles.

Merced College recognizes that the Student Equity Plan is not a stand-alone plan, but rather is an integral element of institutional effectiveness and planning. There is an intrinsic connection between the Student Success and Support Program, Basic Skills, Student Equity, Extended Opportunities Programs and Services, Disabled Students Programs and Services and a host of other institutional programs and plans. Representatives from each of these programs is present on the Student Equity Committee. The comprehensive committee representation allows for the two-way dialogue necessary to inform each plan to better serve students.

To become a truly reflective measure of college values, goals, and perspectives, the Merced College Student Equity Plan is created in an open-meeting with input from all representatives. Once the plan is completed, reviewed, and approved by the Student Equity Committee (SEC), the Student Equity Plan (SEP) is submitted to the Vice President of Student Services (VPSS). The VPSS then submits the SEP to multiple shared-governance committees for review and feedback. The SEP is vetted through the Student Services Administrators Meeting, Student Services Executive Committee, Student Services Master Planning Committee, Student Success and Support Program Advisory Committee, Academic Senate, and College Council. After the various committees provide feedback, changes are reflected in the document which is then sent to College Council for approval. After being approved by College Council, the SEP is presented to the Board of Trustees for approval. This process ensures all constituency groups and college community voices have the opportunity to provide their perspective and inform the direction and vision of equity at Merced College.

Student Equity Research

The Merced College Office of Student Equity and Success (OSSES) currently employs a part-time Senior Research Analyst to assist the Student Equity Coordinator with the planning, collection, and analysis of data.

Assessing Disproportionate Impact (DI)

Methodology

The Merced College Office of Student Equity and Success utilized two methodologies to measure disproportionate impact (DI), the percentage point gap and the proportionality index. In all tables containing data, a group that is disproportionately impacted is indicated by a dark gray shading within the field. In addition, several notes may be present at the end of a table indicating details regarding our ability to analyze the data based on sample size.

The percentage point gap methodology compares the percent of students in a disaggregated subgroup who succeed in an outcome with the percent of all students who succeed in the same outcome. Percentage point gap measurements are calculated by subtracting the all student average success rate (%) from the success rate (%) of a disaggregated subgroup in the same outcome. The resulting 'percentage point gap' will have a -/+ designation that signals whether or not the disaggregated subgroup is experiencing a rate that is lower (-) or higher (+) than the all student average.

According to this methodology, a '-3 percentage point gap or greater' is evidence of a disproportionate impact.

The Proportionality Index (CCCCO, 2015, p. 6 of Appendix C)

The proportionality methodology compares the percentage of a disaggregated subgroup in an initial cohort to its own percentage in the resultant outcome group. The formula for proportionality is the percentage in the outcome group divided by the percentage in the original cohort (outcome percentage/cohort percentage).

A ratio of 1.0 indicates that a subgroup is present in both conditions at the same rate. A ratio of less than 1.0 indicates the subgroup is less prevalent in the outcome than the cohort. Conversely, a ratio greater than 1.0 indicates that the subgroup is more prevalent in the outcome than the cohort. Bensimon and Malcom-Piqueux (2014) specified a cutoff of 0.85 to identify performance below equity when proportionality is used as a performance measure and therefore the OSSES at Merced College has adopted this standard to indicate DI.

Merced College goals and activities are based on the Advancing Student Success in the California Community Colleges: Recommendations of the California Community Colleges Student Success Task Force (SSTF).

To standardize goal setting, a 10% access increase, 3% Course Completion, ESL and Basic Skills, Degree and Certificate completion, and Transfer improvement increments were identified. In places where the target groups were not, by definition, disproportionately impacted, the improvement increment was identified as moving toward the college average, 15.36%.

The goal is to improve course completion for the following target populations identified in the college research as experiencing a disproportionate impact:

Target Population(s)	Current gap, year	Goal	Goal Year
Current or Former Foster Youth	38.17	Reduce the number of students DI by 3% annually until there is no DI	2017 – At this time the improvement increments will be reevaluated for relevancy
Individuals with Disabilities	20.91	Reduce the number of students DI by 3% annually until there is no DI	2017 – At this time the improvement increments will be reevaluated for relevancy
Veterans	16.51	Reduce the number of students DI by 3% annually until there is no DI	2017 – At this time the improvement increments will be reevaluated for relevancy
Black or African American	12.72	Reduce the number of students DI by 3% annually until there is no DI	2017 – At this time the improvement increments will be reevaluated for relevancy
Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander	7.14	Reduce the number of students DI by 3% annually until there is no DI	2017 – At this time the improvement increments will be reevaluated for relevancy

ACTIVITIES: B. COURSE COMPLETION

B.1 Increase the course completion rates of disproportionately impacted groups The number of students “lost” will be decreased annually until target groups are no longer disproportionately impacted: Black or African American from 155 to 150, current or former foster youth from 96 to 93, individuals with disabilities from 475 to 461, and veterans from 131 to 127 by F2016 with continued progress toward equitable course completion rates in subsequent years.

• Activity Implementation Plan

B.1.1 Provide a full list (bi-lingual as well) each semester of support services to Foster Youth, individuals with disabilities, ASMC, student support groups, and clubs, faculty staff, managers and service desks including EOPS, athletics, study central, library, veterans center in at least two forms print and an online source. (SSTF 2.4; 3.4; 5.2)

- Collect, assemble, and disseminate information by service topic (housing, food, supplemental transportation)
- Arrange for printing and distribution to direct service desks and general dissemination
- Work with web master to post info
- Provide info to students at the onset of enrollment instead of when they experience difficulties in courses.

- Link to Goal

- Connecting students to resources will increase student access to services aiding in course completion. Making the college community aware of various resources will allow faculty and staff to direct students to available support services.

- Evaluation

- Student survey gauging recognition of student support services.
- Tracking the number of students using support services to gauge if use increased.
- Focus group discussions with students regarding the compiled materials, their use of support services, or reasons for not using support services.
- Spring/Annually

B.1. 2. Request each master planning committee to develop a communication plan to provide this resource to students. (SSTF 2.4; 3.4; 5.2)

- Include a standing item in each master planning committee agenda relevant to services to each targeted group. Report out to EMPC and SEC

- Link to Goal

- Integrating student equity into master planning will help Student Equity become a part of institutional planning

- Evaluation

- Reflected in at least 3 meeting minutes per year.
- Annually.

B.1.3 Implement a more robust “early alert” program to assist Hispanic, African-American, and multi-ethnic students. (SSTF 2.4)

- Research other colleges’ “early alert” programs and work to implement best practice model for these targeted populations
- Use text messaging as a method to connect and encourage these targeted populations
- Provide professional development for faculty on the importance of building relationships with students and building an “early alert” strategy for their classes.
- Involve faculty in identifying students who need additional instructional support.

- Link to Goal
- Connecting students to counseling and support services at the earliest onset of problems in class will improve their overall course completion rates.

Evaluation

- Track success rates of students using support services after being directed via early alert program.
- Annually.

B.1.3	Fall 2016; Ongoing	$15000

B.1.4 Provide targeted services for Hispanic, African-American, and multi-ethnic students to assist in course completion. (SSTF 2.4)

- Host “Cram Night” study event at the Learning Resource Center.
- Initiate direct faculty communication (i.e. phone call, email, text message, etc.) when a student misses classes for a period of time to make referrals to tutorial, study central, and/or office visit with faculty.

- Link to Goal
- “Cram Night” would put students in touch with services at key points in the semester, thus improving course completion. Academic and social integration models support contact with students as a predictor of student success.

• Evaluation

- Track the number of students at cram nights. Track the number of students with whom direct contact was made. To assess impact, hold focus group sessions with students attending cram night and those with whom faculty initiated contact.
- Biannually.

- Link with direct service providers in the community (i.e., Transitions Council, Guardian Scholars, Merced County Veterans Services Office, and local churches). Attend community meetings and develop strategies for student activities with district allocated resources.

• Link to Goal

- Foster youth and minority males are traditionally represented as at-risk student groups. Creating a plan to serve these students and focus resources to help with student success would improve course completion rates.

- Evaluation

- Disaggregated data tracking course completion rates for foster youth and minority males.
- Focus group information highlighting effective practices
- Bi-annually.

- Work with facilities coordinator, one male coach, one male counselor, one foster youth representative, and one male ASMC officer to conduct investigation; Distribute results and implement resources as possible
- Host “Cram Night” study event at the LRC

- Link to Goal

- Foster youth and minority males are at-risk groups. Literature regarding social and academic integration demonstrates that a feeling of community correlates with increase school performance.

- Evaluation

- Disaggregated data tracking course completion rates for foster youth and minority males. Focus group discussions with minority males and Foster Youth.

LB. B.1 Increase the course completion rates of disproportionately impacted groups. The number of students “lost” will be decreased annually until target groups are no longer disproportionately impacted: Black or African American from 77 to 75 and males from 396 to 384 by F2016 with continued progress toward equitable course completion rates in subsequent years.

	Males	6,163

• Activity Implementation Plan

B.1.1 Implement a more robust “early alert” program to Black or African-American and male students. (SSTF, 2.4)

- Research other colleges’ “early alert” programs and work to implement best practice model for these targeted populations
- Use individual and group text messaging as a method to connect and encourage these targeted populations
- Provide professional development for faculty on the importance of building relationships with students and building an early alert strategy for their classes increasing awareness of staff resources.
- Investigate ways that students could initiate requests for academic assistance. Look at an online system where students could request information on where to go to get help.
- Reactivate Online Counselor (E-Counselor) or Live Chat (Skype).
- At the Los Banos campus there are a limited number of classes, particularly classes for students who are basic skill students. However, the social science courses do not have any prerequisites. As a result, many basic skills students enroll in these courses. From student surveys taken in POSC 1 and History, data showed that over 50% of the class had not yet completed the advised English 85. Investigation is needed to determine if the high number of basic skill students enrolled in social science courses is having an adverse impact on course completion.

Link to Goal

- Connecting students to resources will increase student access to services aiding in course completion. Making the college community aware of various resources will allow faculty and staff to direct students to available support services.
- Connecting students to resources, in this case allowing for students to identify that they need help, and initiate a request for help, will increase student access to services aiding in course completion. Making the college community aware of various resources will allow faculty and staff to direct students to available support services.

• Evaluation

- Student survey gauging recognition of student support services.
- Tracking the number of students using support services to gauge if use increased.
- Focus group discussions with students regarding the compiled materials, their use of support services, or reasons for not using support services.
- Track the number of student who request additional help through an online request system.
- Spring/Bi-annually

B.1. 2. Provide targeted services for Black or African-American and male students to assist in course completion. (SSTF 2.4)

- Host “Cram Night” study event at the Los Banos Campus
- Initiate direct faculty communication (i.e. phone call, email, text message, etc.) when a student misses classes for a period of time to make referrals to tutorial, study central, and/or office visit with faculty.
- Take a look at peak times of LB Tutorial as it meets the needs of this student population and increase the total number of hours available for tutoring services.
- Conduct Los Banos Campus student focus groups to identify barriers/obstacles and develop/implement strategies/programs for improvement

- Improve the tutoring services at the Los Banos Campus by including faculty in the tutorial center
- Gather research, through a student survey, on the number of African American and male students who do not have access to a reliable internet at home to assess student need.
- Research the current use of internet access for students on the LB campus and if the speed and accessibility is sufficient to meet the demand.
- If there is identifiable gaps in internet accessibility, investigate ways to close the gap and allocate funds to address identified deficiencies.

Link to Goal

- Connecting students to resources will increase student access to services aiding in course completion. Assessing student needs in regard to academic support services and addressing identified gaps will improve student outcomes. Making the college community aware of various resources will allow faculty and staff to direct students to available support services.
- Internet accessibility is increasingly important for student success. Reliable access will potentially improve the course completion rates of our African American and male students.

Evaluation

- Tracking the number of students using support services to gauge if use increased.
- Focus group discussions with students regarding the compiled materials, their use of support services, or reasons for not using support services.

Summary Evaluation

Merced College's Student Equity Plan (SEP) goals are numeric and measurable. The goals are designed to improve student outcomes in each of the five student success indicators. The measurements use the Percentage Point Gap methodology to determine progress toward equitable student outcomes on campus. Progress toward each goal is measured annually, following the spring semester, and results are disseminated the following fall semester first to the Student Equity Committee (SEC), followed by Merced College Master Planning Committees, and Academic Senate and Student Success Committee.

The outcomes of the annual measurements will be used to reflect on the SEP activities and allocation of resources. If, through an evaluation of results and best practices, the SEC determines adjustments to the SEP activities is warranted, the SEC will amend the SEP to ensure resources are being best used to positively impact student success and learning according to the five success indicators.

After the SEC has been apprised of the results of the goal measurements, the results will be shared with key campus constituencies. The College Council, Merced College Master Planning Committees, Academic Senate, and Student Success Committees will be made aware of the results. The outcomes of the measurements will prove useful for college planning and overall institutional effectiveness; moreover, many other college-wide initiatives are correlated with the SEP. For instance, there is substantial crossover and support in both Merced College's Student Success and Support Programs (SSSP) Plan and the Basic Skills Initiative (BSI) Plan. In many instances, the plans seek the same aims and leverage resources to best support students. The connection between the plans makes results dissemination imperative to ensure resources are appropriately focused.

Evaluation Schedule and Process

The Student Equity Program will participate in the annual Program Review process at Merced College. For the 2015-2016 academic year, Student Services has integrated equity components and measurements into their annual program reviews. Furthermore, the Office of Student Equity and Success began discussions with Instruction regarding the integration of student equity into Instructional Program Reviews by disaggregating course level data. The disaggregation of course level data will allow faculty the lens through which potential inequities in their programs can be viewed and addressed. The following summarizes the Program Review integration model for Merced College:

Integration Model-
SLO Assessment,
Program Review, and Institutional Decision Making

The evaluation schedule is embedded in the goals, objectives, and expected outcomes section of this plan. The Office of Student Equity and Success will assist in the comprehensive evaluation of this plan.

Campus-Based Research

Merced College Office of Grants and Institutional Research (OGIR)

Campus-based research is supported by the Office of Grants and Institutional Research (OGIR). OGIR is staffed by the Director of OGIR and two senior research analysts.

Methodologies to Assess Disproportionate Impact

Merced College OGIR used the standard methodologies to measure disproportionate impact: proportionality index and the 80% rule. Both methodologies compare a disaggregated subgroup's presence in a cohort to its corresponding presence in its related outcome.

80% Rule Definition

The "80% Rule" methodology compares the percentage of each disaggregated subgroup attaining an outcome to the percentage attained by a reference subgroup. From the EEEEC, it states that "a selection for any race, sex, or ethnic group which is less than four-fifths (4/5) (or eighty percent) of the rate for the group with the highest rate will generally be regarded by the Federal enforcement agencies as evidence of adverse impact, while a greater than four-fifths rate will generally not be regarded by Federal enforcement agencies as evidence of adverse impact." (Section 60-3, Uniform Guidelines on Employee Selection Procedure (1978); 49 FR 38295 (August 25, 1978)]. (Source: Chancellor's Office California Community Colleges, Student Services and Special Programs Division. "College Student Equity Plan." October 2013)

The Proportionality Index Definition

The proportionality index methodology compares the percentage of a disaggregated subgroup in an initial cohort to its own percentage in the resultant outcome group. The formula for proportionality is the percentage in the outcome group divided by the percentage in the original cohort (outcome percentage/cohort percentage).

A ratio of 1.0 indicates that a subgroup is present in both conditions at the same rate. A ratio of less than 1.0 indicates that the subgroup is less prevalent in the outcome than the cohort. Conversely, a ratio greater than 1.0 indicates that the subgroup is more prevalent in the outcome than the cohort.

Proportionality Index	Interpretation
1.0	Proportions of subgroups are equal
<1.0	Subgroup is less prevalent in the outcome group
>1.0	Subgroup is more prevalent in the outcome group
