This institution is an equal opportunity provider.

The Merced College Child Development Center (CDC) is a center-based child care facility that serves children from three months to five years of age. The CDC has been serving the community for over twenty years and reaches a wide number of families throughout Merced County.

Our Focus:

Our curriculum is based on current early childhood educational theory. We believe that children learn first about themselves and then the world around them. Through self exploration of their environments, teachers are able to guide children based upon their individual interest, learning styles and cultures. We encourage positive growth and development. We focus on the individual need of every child, recognizing that each child is unique and learns at their own pace. We provide a developmental program which:

- Nurtures and facilitates growth
- Develops each child's sense of self
- Fosters diversity amongst all
- Encourages critical thinking
- Cultivates each child's positive self esteem

TRAINING FACILITY

The CDC is a laboratory childcare facility. This means that college students come to work with the children as part of their course work. This includes observing children, developing activity and lesson plans, learning to supervise children and discussing observations and experiences with the children in a college classroom setting. All of the classrooms are used as an adult learning facility and adult training is an ongoing component to the programs.

PURPOSE AND GOALS

- ★ A developmental program which assists children to grow by recognizing each stage of development.
- ★ A comprehensive, eclectic curriculum designed to reflect the needs of the individual child.
